

ABSTRACT

Methods, systems, frameworks and software products are disclosed for semantic-based definition, and guaranteed invocation/consumption of nested composite software services containing other composite or atomic software services, such as but not limited to Web services.